Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

- ☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

Design submitted under this pre-application: The proposal seeks to enlarge the dwelling through the construction of a first-floor extension following the removal of the front and rear dormers, and a single-storey link extension connecting the main dwelling with the existing outbuilding. The first-floor extension would be constructed in render. Engineering works were proposed to the front boundary to create a planted retaining wall and extended levelled driveway.

Details of Advice:

- The overall design appeared poorly considered due to its large, bulky form and lack of visual interest.
- Absence of any detailing.
- Dominated by negative space.
- Application of full use of render does little to add visual appearance.
- The Designer was advised to break up the form and massing and introduce depth and detailing.
- Advised to introduce sill and lintels.
- Advised to employ a material palette, like stone or red brick, or visually contrasting materials.
- Encouraged to use natural stone instead of stone facing materials
- It was considered the engineering works to the front would mitigate previously identified overbearing impacts.
- The proposed link extension would increase the emphasis on the dwelling, but is mitigated due to its single storey form.
- The proposed upward extension failed to constitute a satisfactory standard of design.

In the planning supporting document, a page covers our response to the pre-application advice, and how we aim to meet all the points.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
